AVIATORS FALL INTO SURF

to Leave Atlantic City According to the Plans.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 8.-The curiosity of a bulldog endangered the lives of Harry N. Atwood and Charles K. Hamilton, the aviators, yesterday afternoon, and compelled them to abandon for the time being their proposed flight from this resort to Washington. Thirty Thousand Waiting.

Word was passed along the ocean front yesterday afternoon that Atwood and Hamilton, the latter the fiyer of New Washington. Fully 30,000 people assembled on the beach, the Boardwalk and the piers to watch the machine ascend. The big Boardwalk gallery was on the qui vive with excitement when the machine started to revolve.

Hamilton, who was to be Atwood's passenger, arrived here at 9 o'clock yester-day morning, and together the aviators SENATE BILL PROHIBITS looked over the aeroplane thoroughly and took two or three test flights. Every-thing then was apparently just right. At 3:15 o'clock the aeroplane was taken from the pier and again tested when it had settled on the beach.

Advertising Talks To the Readers of The Star

Advertising is the greatest FORCE in the business world today. More than that, it is a great factor in modern PROGRESS and CIV-ILIZATION. And it will become a far greater factor when its almost unlimited possibilities are realized and utilized by every oneby the manufacturer who produces and by the family that consumes, by the merchant who sells and by the housewife who buys. "LORD" and "LADY" come from the old Saxon words "laf-ord" and

"laf-dige," meaning "earner of the loaves" and "server of the loaves." Our modern civilization is based on the fundamental principle that we must live and must obtain the means necessary to sustain life. We must first feed our stomachs and clothe our bodies.

It is TRADE, not social intercourse, that brings the nations of the world together-that brings the people of each nation together in cities. One nation's millions need another nation's wheat. The factories of England and Germany need American cotton. Our American factories need Australian wool and raw silk from China and Japan. Each nation trades what its soil or manufacture produces for what it needs from some other nation. So it is that TRADE unites the nations and advances civilization-

and ADVERTISING DEVELOPS TRADE TO THE Nth POWER!

The internal trade of a nation is even more vital to its progress than is its external trade. It is the GREATER FACILITIES FOR TRADE that brings people together in CITIES. Therefore Advertising benefits all the inhabitants of a city-all. Because it is unequaled as a means of attaining the object for which they are gathered together in a city-Trade. The growth and welfare of a city depend nearly always upon the growth of its trade—the amount of business it transacts daily, weekly, annually. And the growth of trade depends in a very great measure upon the use made of that MODERN TRADE PRODUCER-Advertising. The biggest cities in the country carry the biggest amount of advertising in their newspapers. Because advertising quickens trade and trade quickens growth. And these cities will grow still greater and more prosperous as still more of their merchants and business men realize that the right kind of Advertising will help every The object of these Advertising Talks is to help the readers of this newspaper to appreciate more fully the value and importance of newspaper advertising to every one of them. For advertising helps to those who sell through advertisements. In these Advertising Talks we will endeavor to help the merchants of this city who are already advertising to get still better results from their advertising. We will try to convince merchants who do not advertise that the right kind of advertising is bound to help their line of business just as it helps other businesses. We will try to show the consumers of this city-the men who do the providing for the family and the housewives who do the purchasing for the home-the great advantages, the economy and the convenience of supplying all their needs from ADVERTISED merchandise.

In short, we will preach the gospel of Advertising to all the inhabitants of this city through the columns of this newspaper. Through the efforts of Manuel Quezon, Philippine resident commissioner da avenue to G street; southeast, 12th in Washington; Representative Roberts of Nevada and District health department officials, there is every probability that a chance will be found to return Anacieto Palaby, the Filipino leper, confined in the District, to his home in the Philippine Islands Recently Representative Roberts announced his intention of introducing a resolution to have Congress provide the cost of returning Palaby to his island home. This was followed by a conference between Representative Roberts and Commissioner Quezon, resulting in the announcement made yesterday that the commissioner would arrange for the return of the leper. Today, it was learned, District officials have plans of their own for returning Palaby. About the only thing that will keep the plans from materializing will be guicker action on the part of Congress or of Commissioner Quezon. It is understood that the local authorities intend to sent Palaby away some time in August. While officials of the health department will not comment upon the case, known that the leper has cost the District about $1,000 since January and that plans are being made to eliminate this drain on the treasury. Investigation has shown that the cost of sending Palaby to the Philippine Islands would be in the neighborhood of $1,200. Hence, the reason from an economical standpoint of the District Ohio, was drowned Wednesday in the arranging to deport its ward, if Congress or Commissioner Quezon fails to do so. The plans of the department, it is understood, provide for transporting Palaby across the continent in a closed car. After his arrival in the Philippines, it is probable that Palaby will be sent to the leper colony on the lonely Island of Cullion, situated about 200 miles southwest of
